Poems You Ought to Know.

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Prof. Charles Eliot Norton.

The Wind.

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

The period, subograph and blographical sketch of this author have already approved in this series.

I saw you toss the kites on high And blow the birds about the sky; And all around I heard you pass, Like laddes' skirts across the grass-O wind, a-blowing all day long, O wind, that sings so loud a song!

But always you yourself you hid.
I felt you push, I heard you call.
I could not see yourself at all—
O wind, a-blowing all day long.
O wind, that sings so loud a song!

O blower, are you young or old?
Are you a beast of field and tree.
Or just a stronger child than me?
O wind, a blowing all day long.
O wind, that sings so loud a song!
